WILL QUIT "SHOW BUSINESS" HERE IN 1924, SAYS ZIEGFELD

"Follies" Producer, Angered at Equity Association, Threatens to Follow George M. Cohan to London; Other Live News and Interesting Gossip of Stage Doings along the New York Rialto.

FLORENZ ZIEGFELD, Jr., picker of pulchritude for the yearly "Follies" bearing his name, has threatened to quit the show business in this country in 1924 and betake himself off to London, whither our own George M. Cohan is already headed. And for the same reason, so it seems, for Flo got his back up as a result of some recent trouble with the Actors' Equity Association.

Ziegfeld declares he's sick and tired of spatting with the players' organization over contracts, salaries and what not, and that after his agreement with the "union" expires, two years hence, Broadway will see him no more and he will produce his beauty-and-music spectacles for Europe's tired business men instead of the Broadway, New York, variety.

It appears that Ziegfeld and the Equity have been at loggerheads for some time. The safety-valve blew open a couple of weeks ago following an incident in Chicago. The "Follies" show was about to open an eight weeks engagement at the Powers Theatre when, it was alleged, the company manager was notified by Equity representatives that the theatre would be closed unless one of the chorus ladies, Miss Elizabeth Chatterton, who had been released, was reinstated.

The manager wired to Ziegfeld in New York that he was obliged to reinstate Miss Chatterton or risk the closing of the show. Then Flo went higher than a kite.

Frank Gilmore, executive secretary of the Equity Association, said the trouble arose over the playing of an extra matinee on Thanksgiving Day, prior to the Chicago engagement, which was not provided for in the players' contract, and that a promised bonus to the show girls was not paid.

There is said to be every likelihood that E. H. Southern and Julia Marlowe will engage a Broadway theatre before the season is much older, and revive the successes of their careers, both as co-stars and individuals. They could use more than fifty plays. The plan as outlined would call for a change of bill every three weeks. These two artists recently appeared in Shakespearean repertoire at the Century Theatre.

Marshall Neilan, producing-director, strikes a new and exceptionally interesting note in his new screen offering, entitled "Bits of Life." He tells four distinct stories in the five reels usually allotted to one and each of the four is a classic in its way. This picture is one that won't find its reviewers walking out before the finish.

The members of the Ice Ballet in the New York Hippodrome show, "Get Together," have organized a club that goes skating in Central Park on those Sundays when the lakes are frozen over. That's what the P. A. tells us, anyway, although we'd fancy they'd get enough skating in the course of the twelve shows a week at the Hip.

Billie Burke, who is now starring in "Intimate Strangers" at the Henry Miller, plans to build an intimate theatre to bear her name; something decidedly bizarre in the way of tiny playhouses that will be even smaller than the present Little Theatre, the Belmont or the Punch and Judy. Miss Burke would present only light and cheery plays in this theatrical doll's house, and for audiences of the very elect.

Vigor Of Youth In A New Discovery

Have you lost your youth, vigor and "pep"? Does life seem dull and work a grind? Don't worry. Science has discovered a new vitalizer superior even to the much discussed "goat gland" and "monkey gland" treatment.

The principal ingredient is an extract from the bark of an African tree. It is said to be the most amazing invigorator ever discovered. Combined with it are other tonic and vitalizing elements of proved merit. In most cases the compound produces marked improvement in a day or two, and in a short time the vitality is raised, the circulation improved and the glow of health is felt in every part.

The new vitalizer contains expensive chemicals, but manufacturing in enormous quantities has brought the cost within the reach of all. Furthermore, the laboratories producing this new vitalizer, which is called Re-Nu-Tabs, are so confident of its power that they offer it on the basis of "no results, no pay."

Any reader of this paper may test the new discovery without risk. Send no money, but just your name and address, to the Re-Nu Laboratories, 370 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and a full treatment of Re-Nu-Tabs will be mailed. Deposit $2 and postage with the postman on delivery. If not delighted by the results at the end of a week, notify the laboratories and your money will be refunded in full. Do not hesitate about accepting this test offer, as it is fully guaranteed.

FAMOUS RING BATTLES OF OTHER DAYS

CURRENT speculation as to whether or not Benny Leonard is ready to climb on the toboggan recalls a similar period in the championship career of the incomparable Joe Gans, dusky son of Baltimore and only lightweight equal of the present 135-pound champion, when the sporting fraternity, satisfied that the "old master" was a has-been, wanted to hand the title over to Battling Nelson, conqueror of Jimmy Britt. So the clever darky crawled out of semi-retirement, like that recently indulged in by Leonard, and proved to the boxing world that he was still champion by whipping both Nelson and Britt.

To condition himself for those brilliant conquests, three successive times Gans fought Mike (Twin) Sullivan of Cambridge, Mass. As he claimed the welterweight title—in fact, gained undisputed possession of it a year later—Sullivan was not a "set-up," but an unerring test for the legitimate lightweight champion. Of the three encounters, that with the "Twin" at Woodward's Pavilion, San Francisco, Calif., sixteen years ago the day before yesterday, Jan. 19, 1906, was the most hectic and thrilling.

At first Gans was bothered seriously by Sullivan's height and reach. He did not get the range until the closing minute of the third round when, by ducking under a right, he was able to land heavily on Mike's jaw.

Something of the old Gans flickered throughout his work in the fourth inning. Joe feinted prettily with his left and landed with the right. Skillfully ducking two leads, he got the range with his left also, and closed the session with a fearful jaw blow.

Gans' Ironbound Defense

Before the Baltimore boy's impregnable defense the "Twin" pegged away monotonously like a caged animal at his wire-netting enclosure. Gans wanted to see what Mike had. Drawing him out, Joe countered with a right to the stomach, shortly after the sixth frame began. Sullivan got too playful, whereupon the dusky champion drove him to the ropes with a battery of lefts and rights to the face.

To start the seventh round's fun, Gans dipped gracefully under a left and bobbed up with a torpedo-like right to the body. Although Mike countered with a lone right to the face, Joe worked quickly to closer range.

Mike unloosed his complete assortment in the eighth, but it fell like a light rain on Gans' wonderful defense. Suddenly Gans reached out and caught the rushing Irishman a clip on the chin. The "Twin" fell in and clinched while he thought it over. Joe wriggled loose and caught him again with a straight left. Mike dropped to his knees but still held on.

The "Twin" was still alive in the ninth round. Game Irishman that he was, he fought through a veritable fog, kicked up by a stream of lefts and rights to his face. Often his knees sagged under him, but his pluck kept him off his back.

Mike was his old self when he swaggered out for the tenth canto's business. He weathered two rushes, returning blow for blow. Before the gong Gans cut loose with a series of frightful uppercuts.

The "Twin" Stages a Rally

The "Twin" showed he wasn't squelched yet, however, for he landed frequently during the twelfth round, landed with a will, while the gallery cheered him on.

The thirteenth was Sullivan's round by a wide margin. Egged on by the crowd, he lunged and swung, doing all the leading, catching Joe where his defense was weak, piling up a point advantage. Perhaps the "Twin" could do it yet.

But the foxy Gans laid low until he thought the three minutes were up. Then, with perfect accuracy, he delivered a terrific right to Sullivan's jaw.

That Gans had been resting was proven when he again opened up during the next session. Mike was nothing more than a target and Joe could see nothing but the bull's-eye. The dusky champion made a chopping block of the welterweight, who fought back gamely, but without effect.

The bell tolled the fifteenth round. Mike slipped out and into a clinch. Gans skillfully broke it and sent Sullivan to the floor with a powerful right cross to the chin. As the "Twin" regained his footing and backed to the ropes, Joe tore in and planted a left and right to the jaw almost in unison. Mike fell on his back, his head striking the carpet. On the rebound his head rested against the lower ropes, where he continued to lie stretched out motionless until the time limit had expired, when he was lifted up and carried to his corner.

DIXON AND GRIFFO IN GREAT BOUT

On the same day of the month, but twenty-seven years ago, Jan. 19, 1895, that other colored marvel, Featherweight Champion George Dixon, also fought a heavier, but more formidable, opponent over the twenty-five-round route. Young Griffo, the Australian lightweight wonder, was the man. Dixon and he agreed to a test of skill at the Seaside Athletic Club, Coney Island, on the date mentioned. "Little Chocolate" was outweighed ten to twelve pounds.

Such an exhibition of science and change of pace as Dixon treated the hard-hitting Antipodean to! In the fifth round, just when Griffo seemed to have learned the combination for reaching George's jaw and left eye, which latter began to be puffed, at the same time blocking admirably the dusky boy's leads for the face, Dixon changed his tactics like a flash and played a beautiful tattoo on the Australian's stomach. Griffo winced, and as he dropped his guard, Dixon crossed him with a good smash to the jaw.

The mill became more temperate after the tenth frame; the pace had been too fast for both of them. Dixon stabbed Griffo twice over the heart in this round and received a right to the jaw and a mean uppercut to the stomach in exchange.

Griffo's sides were raw from Dixon's punishing infighting, but when he sought to cover up Dixon shifted and played for the face. Griffo ducked into a nasty left, full on the nose, to close the twelfth period.

Thence until the nineteenth round Griffo assumed the aggressive again and aimed well for Dixon's face repeatedly. Ever alert, George returned to the sickening body attack. Once he lifted the Australian two feet in the air with a crushing right jab to the stomach.

"Cure Your Rupture Like I Cured Mine"

His Remedy and Book Sent Free.

Captain Collings sailed the seas for many years; then he sustained a bad double rupture that soon forced him to not only remain ashore, but kept him bedridden for years. He tried doctor after doctor and truss after truss. No results! Finally, he was assured that he must either submit to a dangerous and abhorrent operation or die. He did neither! He cured himself instead.

"Fellow Men and Women, You Don't Have To Be Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collings made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man.

Anyone can use the same method; it's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collings book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. The book and medicine are FREE. They will be sent prepaid to any rupture sufferer who will fill out the below coupon. But send it right away—now—before you put down this paper.

ODDS AND ENDS OF SPORT

FOOTBALL

A scoreless tie when East met West. That was the result of the intersectional football game between the elevens of Washington and Jefferson University and the University of California, played at Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 2. The men of W. and J., coached by "Greasy" Neale, entered the fray on the short end of the betting odds of 3 to 1, but they put up a splendid brand of football that stopped the Californians dead in their tracks. The game was played on a gridiron that was ankle deep in mud, following a heavy downpour.

BASEBALL

George Sisler, star first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, definitely declared himself out of the running recently as a candidate for managerial honors. Sisler said he was satisfied to hold down a job as a player and had no aspirations whatever to become a manager. George managed the Los Angeles team in the Pacific Coast Winter League and captured the pennant. Perhaps his experiences in that role determined him to hold out against a similar berth in the major circuits.

Another long-familiar face, that of Sheriff "Slim" Sallee, the veteran portside pitcher, will be missing at the Polo Grounds next summer, along with that of George Burns. The New York Giants recently gave Sallee his unconditional release following fifteen years of service in the National League. Harry Sallee and Ed Konetchy were the last two of the "Old Guard" in the older circuit. Both were members of the St. Louis Cardinals a dozen years ago. Sallee is thirty-seven years old. He was bought by the Giants in 1916, traded to Cincinnati in 1918 and returned to McGraw in 1920. Last season he was used as a relief pitcher. He is expected to land a job in the American Association.

GOLF

The English professionals, James H. Taylor and Alec (Sandy) Herd, will compete in the national open golf championship of the United States next summer at the Skokie Club, Chicago, Ill., according to a recent announcement. Taylor was five times open champion of Great Britain and Herd held the British title in 1902. The invaders will strive to wrest the American open championship from Jim Barnes of Pelham, N. Y., present posessor of the title.

CHESS

Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for the first time in the history of the Intercollegiate Chess League, won the championship of that organization in the fifth and final round of the tournament held recently at the Manhattan Chess Club, New York city. The M. I. T. team defeated the New York University quartet by a score of 2½ to 1½. Five teams were entered. College of the City of New York finished second and Cornell, last year's champions, third.

MISCELLANEOUS

More than half a million dollars, or to be exact, $535,317.15, was the amount turned in as taxes by Tex Rickard to the Federal Government, the state and the City of New York in the first sixteen months of his operation of Madison Square Garden as a sporting amphitheatre. This covered the period from Aug. 20 1920 to Dec. 22, 1921, and is said to be a record tax return by any amusement enterprise in the world. In addition, Tex paid over the neat sum of $300,000 to the government and the state of New Jersey for the Dempsey-Carpentier world's heavyweight ring contest last July in Jersey City.

More than ninety-two per cent. of the undergraduates of Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., participated in some form of outdoor athletics during the last fall term, according to statistics recently issued by college officials. The figures showed that the Amherst policy of encouraging physical development of all students resulted in 462 men out of an enrollment of 510 taking part in open air sports.

CHALLENGE TO WATER MEN

Benjamin H. Schlomberg, who defended his title of "world's best all-around water man" at the Sportsman Show held in Madison Square Garden in March, 1911, is out scouting around for more challengers. Schlomberg says he is willing to compete at any time and any place. He particularly challenges Henry Elionsky for twenty-five miles. Address him at 470 East 161st street, Bronx, N. Y.

RING HISTORY OF THE NEAR-CHAMPIONS

CHAPTER LXXVI.

HARRY LEWIS.

Hebrew boxer, a favorite on two continents, grew so fast he fought in four divisions, from feather to middleweight, barely missing a world's title.

LIKE the proverbial weed, Henry Besterman grew too fast. In addition, he picked out the cream of his fighting years in which to stage a remarkable weight-gaining performance, so that when his growth came to a standstill and fixed him as a middleweight his fistic ability had gone to seed.

As is the custom with many Jewish boxers, Besterman adopted a ring name, Harry Lewis, under which he became the pugilistic idol of Philadelphia fifteen years ago, although he was a native of New York city, having been born in the metropolis Sept. 16, 1886.

Eighteen-year-old Harry made an enviable reputation around Philadelphia in 1904 as a preliminary fighter, winning twenty-eight contests and losing none. He was a featherweight that year.

During the first six months of 1905, finally advanced to the wind-up position on the boxing cards, he was matched with six of the leading featherweight contenders. He defeated Benny Yanger, drew with Kid Herman and Aurelia Herrera, and was shaded by Eddie Hanlon, Tim Callahan and Kid Sullivan.

Enters Ranks of Lightweights

About that time Lewis started his growing performance. Finding it increasingly hard to make the featherweight limit, he entered the lightweight ranks with his fight against Young Erne on May 27, 1905. His second "debut" was signalized by a cyclonic six-round victory.

Willie Fitzgerald of Brooklyn was the first crack lightweight whom Harry fought, the occasion being a week after the encounter with Erne. Lewis battled the Long Island idol to a standstill.

The year 1906 saw the little Quaker take his place among the top-rung lightweights. Although shaded by Jimmy Gardiner and Willie Fitzgerald in six-round, no-decision matches, he earned a go with the lightweight champion, Joe Gans.

The National Athletic Club of Philadelphia secured the match, June 15, 1906, carded to be for six rounds, no decision to be given. Lewis caught Gans with his feet close together in the second round and dropped him to the floor.

Champion Becomes Desperate

Gans got rather desperate in the fifth and played for a wallop. But he bumped into a jab every time. More determined in the sixth and last inning, Joe boxed rings around the youngster, landing often; but his blows were light—Harry's jabs were so discouraging. The kid was given a great send-off after the fight.

During the summer Lewis twice licked Jimmy Briggs, lightweight champion of New England, and wound up the year by knocking out Willie Fitzgerald and defeating Joe Thomas and Jack Dougherty.

Too bad he was doing so well as a lightweight, because he hadn't stopped growing! Jan. 22, 1907, he made his third "debut"—as a welterweight, knocking out Rube Smith of Denver, western 142-pound champion. A month later he won a ten-round decision from Mike (Twin) Sullivan, who in his next bout won the welterweight championship from Honey Mellody.

Harry's welterweight act lasted until about the middle of 1908. His victims were Tommy Sullivan, Dave Deshler, Mike Donovan, Frank Mantell, Honey Mellody, Unk Russell, Terry Martin and Charley Hitte, almost the entire roster of good welterweights.

Frank Mantell, who claimed the welterweight championship because he had knocked out Honey Mellody a few months before, succumbed to a knockout punch in three rounds, Jan. 23, 1908. On the following 20th of April, Lewis gave Honey Mellody himself the same dose in four rounds.

But if Harry Lewis had any hope of annexing the welter title by a return match with Mike Sullivan, it was thwarted by his old friend, More Weight.

He became an avowed middleweight, celebrating his fourth "debut" on June 9, 1908, in the first of four hurricane fights with Willie Lewis, idolized New York middleweight, then just returned from a triumphal invasion of France. It was a draw.

The same pair agreed to settle their differences Dec. 14, 1908, at the Edgewood Athletic Club, New Haven, Conn., in twelve rounds. Harry stole away with the first four rounds but lost the next three.

More Contenders Eliminated

Before his next important fight Harry's record shows that he disposed of Dan Sullivan, national amateur middleweight champion, brother of the famous twins, in two rounds, and defeated Larry Temple, Terry Martin, Tommy Crawford and Harry Mansfield (three times).

The important fight referred to was with Frank Klaus, claimant of the mlddleweight title, at the National Athletic Club, Philadelphia, Nov. 27, 1909, six rounds. As neither man disdained to use anything short of heavy artillery, it was one continual bombardment, with each often staggering the other. However, the decision would have been a draw.

Harry joined the great galaxy of American stars who invaded France again in 1910, his old opponent Willie Lewis being numbered in the outfit. Immediately the pair got together for another brace of contests. In the first, held in Paris, February 19, 1910, Harry shaded Willie, as the latter afterward admitted, in twenty rounds, although the decision was a draw. On the following 24th of April they battled another twenty-five rounds, but still could do no better than a draw.

During that tour Harry established a record by defeating three men in one night, knocking two of them out in two rounds each.

Then the National Sporting Club of London came along and offered Harry an opportunity to fight Young Josephs for a purse of $3,000 and the welterweight championship of England. How the Quaker got down to weight is not known, but he is credited with having fought and knocked Josephs out in eight rounds, June 27, 1910, winning the title as part of the stakes.

Returns to the States

Returning to the states, he lost a twelve-round decision to Leo Houck, Boston middleweight; whereupon he went right back to France. But Houck followed and repeated the performance in Paris.

In the fourth round matters moved quicker than the ringsiders' eyes could follow. Immediately after the bell Lewis rushed Summers to the ropes and floored him twice. When the weak Briton got his wobbling pins upright again, Harry, after timing him with a long straight left, crossed over with a steel-plated right hook. Johnny floundered for the limit.

But that the skillful Hebrew was through, except for the English roped arena, a seventeen-year-old French middleweight champion named Georges Carpentier demonstrated at the Cirque in Paris, Dec. 13, 1911. Carpentier fought on the defensive for the entire twenty rounds, lithely ducking and dodging Lewis' scientific attack, coming out of his shell only when he found a good opening to deliver one to three straight rights. Oxygen was administered to Georges after the tenth and every succeeding round—but he won the decision.

Harry's last three fights were in England in 1912, when he successfully defended his British title against the Dixie Kid and Harry Mansfield, but lost it May 13 to Private Palmer.

Pedlar Palmer, one of England's most skillful little men, was a candidate for championship honors in Terry McGovern's time. Read his story. It's next week's Near-Champion feature in the POLICE GAZETTE. If you don't want to miss it have your newsdealer reserve a copy.

NEW BARK EXTRACT GIVES GREAT VIGOR

Vitalizer Found in Africa Produces Results in a Few Days—Better Than Gland Treatments.

The most amazing vitalizer known today has been discovered in the bark of an African tree. An extract made from this bark, and compounded in tablet form with other invigorators of proved merit, is declared to be far superior to even the famous "goat gland" and "monkey gland" treatments. In most cases it produces gratifying results in just a few days, and as the treatment is continued the vitality increases rapidly, the circulation improves and the glow of health is felt in every part.

If you have lost your youth, vigor and "pep" you need not worry. No matter what else you have tried without benefit, science declares flatly that you will get from this new extract the results you desire. In fact, the laboratories making the tablets for the American trade guarantee to refund the purchase price to anybody who reports "no benefit" after only one week's treatment.

On this basis, any reader of this paper may test the new discovery without risk. Send no money, but just your name and address to the Re-Bild Laboratories, Dept. 208, Coca Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and you will receive by mail a full treatment of Re-Bild Tabs, as the new vitalizer is called. On delivery, pay the postman $2 and postage. Try the vitalizer a week and then if disappointed notify the laboratories and get your money back in full. You need not hesitate about accepting this test offer as it is fully guaranteed.

Trick Saves Life

When a hold-up man thrust his gun into the face of D. E. Cox, on a lonely Alabama road, he got the surprise of his life. The next moment found him on the ground, and the gun in the hand of Mr. Cox.

What would you give, in case of danger, to be able to do the same? To know that under all circumstances you could protect yourself and those dear to you against insult or injury?

The boy who gave the Alabama highwayman such a rough surprise was not a superman—nor was he a rowdy or a bully himself. He simply knew the secrets of scientific wrestling. He had learned them at home (as thousands of other young men and boys are learning them) through a course in wrestling prepared by two of the greatest wrestlers who ever lived—Frank Gotch, the world's champion, and his trainer, Farmer Burns. He writes:

"* * * * I successfully took the gun away from him with the trick shown in your sixth book of lessons, although he was 50 pounds heavier than myself. Your course was undoubtedly the means of saving my life."

Wrestling Secrets Revealed

by Frank Gotch and Farmer Burns

You may learn the trick which saved the life of D. E. Cox and hundreds of other marvelous blocks, breaks, falls, and holds—you may become an expert in wrestling, the world's finest, cleanest sport (encouraged by churches, Y. M. C. A's and the Government)—and you may develop a magnificent physique—all taught to you by mail without you leaving your home. The instructions of Frank Gotch and Farmer Burns are a revelation to men and boys. Wrestling makes strong men stronger and weak men strong. It is the healthiest exercise in the world besides a fascinating sport and the finest kind of self defense. Start today to be an expert wrestler! You Can.

BOXING BODY IN NEW YORK SHUTS DOWN ON LICENSES

Too Many Clubs Now, Says Muldoon Commission; Ruling Bars Bouts from Armories and Makes Things Harder for Rivals of Tex Rickard.

WILLIAM MULDOON, chairman, and his associates of the New York State Athletic Commission, threw a bombshell recently into the ranks of New York pugilistic promoters when that body, which controls the conduct of the manly art in the Empire State, announced that it would refuse to grant any more club licenses.

The commission's order was issued in the midst of a mighty dispute as to whether or not the state armories should be thrown open to professional bouts, and unless Governor Miller should veto the ruling the result of the ukase will be that the armories will be closed tightly against fighters and their managers.

The commission's statement was as follows:

"The commission refuses to grant any more licenses. It is its opinion that there are in existence more clubs than there is a demand for; it is the policy of the commission to reduce the number as quickly as possible without hurting anyone financially who is now conducting a club.

"The commission is ready and willing to consider the transfer of a license from individual to individual, or in other words, from manager to manager, but not from place to place. That is, the place that is now operating under a license can change proprietors if all conditions under the law are complied with."

In some quarters it is pointed out that the commission's order still further strengthens the grip on boxing and wrestling in New York city now held by Tex Rickard at Madison Square Garden. Billy Gibson, fistic manager and promoter, and Jack Curley, wrestling impresario, were perhaps hardest hit by the pronouncement. Gibson had been intending to erect an immense arena at One Hundred and Sixty-ninth street and Broadway, where all kinds of athletic enterprises would be staged, in direct opposition to the Garden, and pending its completion had hoped to obtain a license for shows at one of the city's large armories.

Curley, also, was anxious to regain his position as a wrestling promoter and was prepared to seek a license, but the order of the commisson seemingly imposed an insurmountable barrier to the projects of both these men and left Rickard in sole possession of the field.

On the other hand, persons who have the interests of pugilism at heart expect great benefits to follow the ruling of the Muldoon commission. To them it seems better to consider the prosperity of the boxing game ahead of the ambitions of certain individuals, and there is no doubt that there are now enough boxing clubs in New York city to more than supply the demand on the part of the public.

It took Joe Lynch, former bantamweight champion, just 1 minute and 20 seconds to knock out Al Walker of California, in what was to have been a ten-round contest at the Pioneer Sporting Club, New York city, on the afternoon of Jan. 2. Walker rushed Lynch at the tap of the gong for the first round and was in the act of swinging a terrific left for Joe's face when the ex-champion stepped inside and crossed with his right to Al's jaw, dropping him for the full count.

DUNDEE AND JACKSON FIGHT FIFTEEN FAST ROUNDS TO A DRAW

Johnny Dundee, holder of the Tex Rickard belt as champion of the 130-pound junior lightweights, and Willie Jackson, his ancient rival, fought a fast fifteen-round draw before a capacity crowd in Madison Square Garden on the night of Dec. 30. Although it was the twelfth meeting of these two boys and each knows the other's style like a book, they put up a slambang affair that had the crowd cheering lustily from start to finish and the split verdict was favorably received.

By agreement both entered the ring under the lightweight limit of 135 pounds at 2 o'clock the afternoon of the scrap, so that Dundee's junior title was not at stake. The Scotch Wop tipped the balance at 129¼ and Jackson at 134½. Jackson, who is listed among the formidable contenders for the lightweight championship, made a desparate attempt to repeat his performance of stretching the bounding Johnny on the canvas for the count of ten, but Dundee was altogether too shifty to be caught unawares.

Jackson scored consistently with a vicious right hook, while Dundee relied almost entirely upon his left hand to jab and hook Willie in the face. Neither man was in serious danger of a knockout at any time during the bout, although Jackson staggered Dundee with a right to the jaw in the fifth round and Johnny sent Willie back on his heels in the twelfth with a right and left to the face. Both boxers left the ring with scars of battle in the form of cut lips.

Youth, Health, Strength, Can Now Be Restored.

Science Discovers New Remedy for the Restoration of Youth, Health and Strength, and to Rejuvenate the Entire Body in General.

Scientists and the world's most renowned chemists, after years of study and research work have discovered a remedy for restoring your lost health, strength, and vitality.

When your insterstitial glands are broken down in health and are inactive, they fail to secrete or function. This is the cause of poor health, and loss of energy and ambition. This condition can be relieved by feeding your own inactive glands with the glands of young, healthy, vigorous animals, which are contained in "Nu Life Gland Tablets."

"Nu Life Gland Tablets" have achieved an International Reputation for the treatment of Sexual Impotency, Loss of Strength and Vitality, Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, and in Rejuvenating the entire body in general.

The glands used in the manufacture of "Nu Life Gland Tablets" are carefully selected from young, healthy, vigorous animals, under United States Government Inspection.

If you have had the misfortune of being deceived by attractive advertisements of worthless and often dangerous quack medicines, do not be discouraged, for "Nu Life Tablets" are absolutely guaranteed to give satisfactory results, not only in restoring your lost health, strength, and vigor, but also to act as a general tonic for the entire system, enrich the blood, increase your weight, build firm flesh, and to correct anaemic conditions.

Send for free phamphlet. "Nu Life Gland Tablets" are not for sale in drug stores. For sale only by the Stanton Laboratories, 279 5th Avenue, San Francisco. $3.00 per bottle. Sent post paid on receipt of postal or express money order, registered letter or your check is good.

"DEMPSEY-KILLERS" FLOCK TO JOHNSTON'S MENAGERIE

New York Boxing Manager Gets Assortment of Aspiring and Perspiring Heavies in Response to Want Ad., Who Aim to Knock the Champ for Row of Tin Cans.

JAMES "JOY" JOHNSTON has a hunch. He says he's satisfied there isn't a pugilist fighting in the ring to-day who has a chance of knocking Jack Dempsey's block off and swiping the heavyweight crown. So Jimmy, who is a New York boxing promoter, has set out to find a White Hope diamond-in-the-rough, who can be made into the next world's champion.

How did he go about it? Well, he advertised, remembering well his copybook lesson that "it pays to advertise." Jimmy advertised for the next heavyweight champion, preferably a young man with a a build like John L. Sullivan or Jim Jeffries and an appetite for licking Jack Dempsey.

The Pied Piper of Hamlin couldn't have done a better corralling job with a kid's Christmas horn. Did that young man respond? Did he? Yes, he trooped in, more than a score strong. He weighed anything from 160 to 207 pounds, and was both short and long. His combined weight in coal would tide any family over the coldest winter months. And he all thought he could lick ten Jack Dempseys. Some appetites these young Americans have.

Jimmy, therefore, can't ever complain that it doesn't pay to advertise. He wanted to speak to the next world's champion, and got in touch with a menagerie.

What to do with them? Jimmy remembered that George Bothner had a gymnasium on West Forty-second street. Thither he carted fourteen of his troupe during a noon hour recently and after crossing his fingers, paired them off, setting them to work for three rounds.

The little gallery of sporting friends enjoyed such a treat as one gets at a one-ring circus. Most of the wallopers had never had gloves on but once or twice before. "Five per cent. ability and ninety-five per cent. effort," insisted Professor Jimmy, defending his layout. "It's the effort that counts to-day."

Yes, it was a nice easy workout; but, shades of Joe Grim, what some of those boys did to each other with one punch. Despite all Jimmy's caution the "shiners" and puffed cheeks and split lips were passed around like Christmas cigars.

The gallery searched hard for a John L. or a Ruby Bob, but he must have been passing under another name. However, there was a Corbett whose first name was Frank. He hailed from Brooklyn, N. Y., which is enough of an introduction to any roped arena. He will be given a chance to outshine his namesake.

Then a sorrel-topped youngster from Joisey, tagged Fred Biel, answered to two encores and might have the makings. Ed Civil of Louisville, Ky; Herbert Link of Flatbush, N. Y., and Sergeant Dave Perry of Rahway, N. J., were three others who stood the initial gaff enough to warrant training.

Johnston's effort to unearth a successor to Jack Dempsey is just another manifestation of that unrest which always follows in fistiana when a champion just begins to get comfortably settled among his honors.

Tex Rickard, the genial promoter of Madison Square Garden, has been talking heavyweight tournament for some time. He is trying to induce all the big fellows, who claim a right to some recognition, to submit to a series of elimination contests in the Garden, the winner and perhaps the runner-up to meet Dempsey.

Reminds one of the old days when King Rickard said: "My Kingdom for a White Hope," those being the dog days when there seemed to be no match for the big black man, Jack Johnson. In a steady succession Frank Moran, Gunboat Smith, Al Palzer, Luther McCarty, Arthur Pelky, Al Kauffman, Carl Morris, Fred Fulton and Bombardier Wells loomed up, then faded, until finally Jess Willard, really considered an outsider, and originally almost as much of a dub in the ring as any one of Jimmie Johnston's flock, did the deed and there was a white champion again.

JOHNNY WILSON BACKS OUT

The New York Athletic Commission has barred Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, and his manager, Martin Killalea, from appearing in boxing rings of the Empire State, following their action in backing out of an agreement whereby Wilson was to meet Harry Greb of Pittsburgh in a fifteen-round bout for the title next month at Madison Square Garden. The commission provided, however, that Wilson could have a hearing if he wanted one.

As announced in the POLICE GAZETTE last week. Wilson signed a contract with Tex Rickard, Garden promoter, to fight Greb for the middleweight crown. He later declared he would not carry out this agreement, as he had made it only on receipt of the $35,000 purse withheld from him after his fight with Bryan Downey in Jersey City last Labor Day. He contended that as he was virtually coerced into signing to meet Greb he had no compunction about repudiating the match.

FAMOUS RING BATTLES

Dixon in the nineteenth session, under orders to rush, dazzled the Australian with his speed; but Griffo luckily placed a number of right and left jabs in George's way and slowed him down. In a surprise counter attack Griffo missed a terrific uppercut by a hair.

"Little Chocolate's" two eyes were puffed; his left showed unmistakable signs of closing. But though he dogged Griffo relentlessly, the Antipodean sprinted until the twenty-third round.

Then it became very evident that both fighters were determined to wind up the fight in a blaze of glory; the exchanges were of the whirlwind character. But the honors were still even when the last round was called.

Dixon sprang at his opponent as soon as the bell clanged, but Griffo met him with a clinch and held fast. When they broke George rushed again and ran plump into a left jab to his bad eye. Dixon dodged another that was aimed for his nose. The round ended with furious infighting. The referee called it a draw and earned prolonged cheers.

No Bust Pads

NOW Use the National

"Bust developed 5 inches," says Mrs. Allendorf.

Only Real Bust Developer

The National is the special Bust Developer Dr. C. S. Carr formerly recommended in the Physical Culture Magazine as the only safe, reliable method known for enlarging the bust in a natural way. Of this method Dr. Carr said:

"Indeed it will bring about a development of the bust quite astonishing."

This has been proven over and over by those using the National. In reports sent us some have obtained as much as five inches development by following Dr. Carr's instructions in using this wonderful invention.

Valuable Book FREE

If you want a beautiful, plump, full bust, write for our valuable book on bust development containing the article by Dr. Carr, in which he tells specifically the causes of non-development and how the bust may be developed harmlessly to its most beautiful proportions. Sent free to every woman in need of development. If you wish book sent sealed enclose 6c. postage.
